One hundred and thirty-five patients were entered into a double-blind controlled trial to assess the effectiveness of hyperbaric oxygen in the treatment of ischaemic symptoms in patients with arterial ischaemia in peripheral vascular disease. After inclusion, exclusion criteria were defined and patients were randomised by a computerised balloting system to one of three treatment groups. There were 67 patients in the treatment group, 58 in the control group and 60 in the sham group. The patients in the treatment group received 90 treatments over a period of 7 weeks. There were no statistically significant differences in the outcomes between the treatment and control groups. In this study the effectiveness of hyperbaric oxygen as a treatment for ischaemic symptoms was not confirmed. However, a trial with a larger patient population is required before this treatment can be routinely recommended.Q: Is there any way to pause/resume audio capture in iOS?
