NASA Spacescapes Windows 7 Theme

We had some fun in the end making this The free app NASA Spacescapes Windows 7 Theme is designed to include some of the great imagery that NASA produces. It was made in response to the excitement for the NASA Mars Rover Curiosity and other fascinating space explorations. NASA Spacescapes Windows 7 Theme is similar to the windows screensaver app described in our main post, so you should easily figure out how to use it. There's a right arrow key which zooms out to show all of the images, and a left arrow key which zooms in. This theme is free to download and use, with no hidden costs, and includes a good number of well-made images of the universe. You can select any of them to run on your screen, or browse them all at once to see the variety of creatures in outer space. After installation, you'll be presented with a nicely laid out interface to browse through all of the images. If you're like us, you've probably seen these NASA Space Coast screenshots before. You may have even seen them all in a row. It's hard not to be fascinated by all of this great technology. You can also filter them on the basis of which image is running on the screen at any given time by checking the box next to the thumbnail. In the future, they may even film some more of this footage and put it online. We hope you'll enjoy this screensaver until then.[Neonatal necrotizing enterocolitis: more than a diagnosis]. Necrotizing enterocolitis (NEC) is one of the most serious neonatal gastrointestinal disorders. NEC is a rare disease in newborns, however, it is the second most common gastrointestinal cause of death of newborns. The diagnosis of NEC remains clinical because of a variety of nonspecific and various symptoms in neonates. Accordingly, NEC is defined as necrosis and inflammation of the intestinal wall which occurs at an early stage of neonatal life. Mortality related to NEC is estimated to be around 30 to 50%. It is important to develop the management strategy for NEC, because NEC has been associated with the maturation of the immune system. In fact, NEC occurs more frequently in premature infants than in full-term infants. Very low birth weight (VLBW) infants are at greatest risk for NEC; however, NEC occurs at an earlier age in VLBW infants than in full-term infants
