Automatically discover and stream music from the Internet. Record online radio stations and listen to MP3... Thanks for your detailed post. It helped a lot! I am interested in sharing my own experience with you. I have had a very good and fruitful experience with StreamGuru. I use this software to download music from online radio stations, at the same time I use it to record audio from mp3 songs. This combination is very powerful. I have been able to discover and enjoy a lot of new and unknown artists. In this way I reach my goal of enjoying and making the most of every new music I listen. In addition, I use this software to record audio from radio stations that I do not have access to and I am also able to listen to the song before and after the recording. I am very satisfied with StreamGuru. It keeps me updated with new music because it finds a new artist or song every day I use the software. Thanks for your detailed post. It helped a lot!
