Peshawar left at least 23 people dead and wounded another 85, officials said on Wednesday. The blast occurred at the main bus station in Peshawar at 10:30 am (0830 GMT) on Tuesday when a group of unidentified assailants unleashed their assault on the station's reception hall and media centre. A suicide bomber blew himself up at a busy bus station in Peshawar on Tuesday

pic.twitter.com/8jCYyBMBpA — DawnNews (@dawnNews) February 5, 2017 "The blast went off when the boys were entering the reception," said a senior government official who asked not to be identified. "There were six to seven targetted buses, and two or three of them carried bombs." "The dead include people at the reception hall, but they are yet to count the exact figure," he added. "There was a further explosion and the building itself was left in rubble," the official said, adding that the bomb was loaded inside a fuel tanker and detonated. The attack came two days after a militant attack on the Army Public School and College in Peshawar, killing more than 150 people
