When we first got our hands on FIFA for PS3 and PS4 we didn't immediately see what was in store for us in-game, but the more we played we were quickly drawn into the title and never looked back. One of the main features that really stood out for us were the player's facial animations, from the way they breathe, to their read of the game, everything was just genuinely well done.

EA's creative director Aaron McHardy says that the goal for EA Sports is to create a wide variety of face animations, so that players can react to the diverse range of incidents they may encounter on the pitch. The new system can also be used to identify player emotions in the heat of the action, giving the game a more human element. EA FIFA faces – FIFA 22 ESPN's Taylor Twellman, says that the new AI of FIFA 22 should be the best in history. The AI and player's on-field behavior feel much more responsive, which will make the players easier to pick out in the big moments of the game. EA has also upgraded the overall player stats as well as the ratings system. EA has taken note of all the improvements that fans have made to

Leagues and Clubs With the addition of UEFA Champions League, UEFA Europa League, UEFA Super Cup, and FIFA Club World Cup tournaments, there are more than twice as many leagues and clubs as previous iterations. In the wake of the additions, over 20 leagues from 12 countries across the globe, including England, Italy, Spain, Germany, France, and China, have been renamed and have received new kit designs. The updated world rankings have also been tweaked to reflect recent changes. Club Creativity Whether you're building your own perfect team, re-creating a historic club or simply buying the most expensive player in the game, building your own team or club has never been easier. Customise your squad as you see fit, or choose from a multitude of kits, stadium designs and logos. And for the first time, players can also be named after your favorite players, charities and even a celebrity. Soccer Intelligence EA SPORTS FIFA previously featured the same engine across all game modes. With the addition of three new sports, and the addition of the UEFA Champions League to the FIFA game engine, our global soccer AI and player intelligence has been tuned to deliver the best football experience on PlayStation 4. For the first

The ball-orientation AI continues to evolve, including more “body swerving”, and improved ball-control. And the entire system will now react to the pressure on players too – meaning that goalkeepers will come sliding back to stop corners, as will strikers coming off their heels.
