“Our goal was to create a player on player experience that focused on exciting, realistic sports simulation, and in doing so, allow players to experience what it's like to play a real football match," said David Rutter, FIFA Production director at EA Sports. “Working with the guys at Peter Molyneux's studio, 22cans, to make the most realistic simulation of a football match we have ever created, gave us the opportunity to push the boundaries of what is possible on a football pitch, and from the results so far, we know we will have the best FIFA on the market next year.” Please click the thumbnail to check out the 2-minute gameplay trailer. Finally, I'd like to remind you that there's still time to get the EA Sports Volition Soccer demo for PlayStation 4. You can download it via PlayStation Store now.Q: Windows Service installer getting error code 0xC00CE064 I'm installing a Windows Service and I'm getting the following error message in event viewer: Error: 0xC00CE064 at [Removal of TETS Installer 2.0.0.0]:1:0. AppName: ***** [Host Process] AppVer: 3.0.2 AppID: ***** Errors 0xC00CE064: Premature end of file A: I've had a similar problem in the past. The reason it occurred was that I was running a 32bit installer file on a 64bit OS. The installer will process the uninstall function but the version match check fails (something is missing or broken) because the installer and the exe have different codes (or sizes, depending on how you look at it). Try running the installer on the same OS that is hosting the service and run the uninstaller on a different OS as well. This will at least tell you what the error is. A: If you are installing a Windows service, try using the Visual Studio Add New Project Wizard. If you have an option for a "Windows service", choose that option, provide it with your own service name (if needed), and the wizard will handle all the information for you, except for the install process. Q: Unknown connection string in.NET Core 2.0 I'm trying
