FIFA (from FIFA is Five Aligned Football) is the most popular, authentic sports game series, now 30 years old. It features complete player authenticity, spectacular sports moments, and more than 1,500 licensed players from around the world. FIFA also features a deep and expansive range of gameplay modes including Team and Player, Tournament, Cup, League, and FA Cup modes. FIFA Ultimate Team™, now in its 10th season, gives fans the opportunity to collect and build an ultimate team of the world's best players. With over one million players to choose from, there are endless ways to play. EA SPORTS™ FIFA 22 also offers new ways to train and manage your team, and introduces the new Player Impact Engine™. The Player Impact Engine allows more detailed control of a player's different skills, with different animations and responsiveness in key moments in the game. FIFA Soccer™ is a comprehensive team sports game that allows fans to play and compete like the pros in all areas including the game-changing Player Career mode, where players take the field with their own customised team of characters. FIFA Ultimate Team™ continues to focus on delivering deep and immersive gameplay with the most authentic Ultimate Team experience to date, with countless options to improve your squad, including new and enhanced gameplay that will bring you closer to the real deal than ever before. Our goal in developing FIFA is to put the ball in the back of the net and score more goals than the opposition. This is the only way for you to be a winner. Across each of the game modes in FIFA 22, our goal is to give players a new way to play, offer a deeper level of control, and give you a new way to go about building your team. In Team and Player, we aim to make passing and movement more dynamic and challenging. And while there are subtle changes, we also made some significant improvements to gameplay and controls. We aim to make passing and movement feel more natural, while offering more choices and tactics for players to utilise, like dribbling through a defensive wall. We want to make players more aware of their allies, like you would in real life, meaning more coordination with them. We're aiming to give players more control over the overall flow of the match by helping you keep track of your opponent's positioning and their team, as well as how teammates are positioned and moving. In Tournament, we are introducing a new
