If the players association does not agree to changes to the collective bargaining agreement, the deal becomes official at 2 p.m., meaning that the newly signed team cannot complete the deal until after that deadline passes. If no trade is completed by 2 p.m., both teams get the benefit of the two-day window and can complete a trade at their leisure. While trades still can be made before that deadline, the players association has threatened to strike if such a trade is completed. In that circumstance, it would be teams' word against the union's, and ultimately the union's to lose. The players' deadline has been looming for days, but only now are teams trying to make moves d0c515b9f4
